PLAN MUST PROVIDE MONEY FOR FARMERS

B. F. Yoakum Says Banking System Should Be Revised to Provide Cheaper Funds for Moving Crops.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—A change in our banking and currency system that will enable the banks serving agricultural communities to obtain funds on equal terms with institutions in the big cities, and the establishment of a governmental bureau to aid in the marketing of crops are two things needed to bring prosperity to the farmers of the country in the opinion of B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve system. Mr. Yoakum is now on an extended trip through the south and west and speaks from a personal observation of conditions.

"In the past," said Mr. Yoakum, "the farmers have allowed important national legislation affecting their interests to be so shaped, through political leaders, as to suit others, without consideration for them. It is to be hoped that in the matter of the proposed revision of our financial system, so vital to their ultimate prosperity, they will take sufficient interest to see to it that their interests are safeguarded."

"I believe that the provision of banking facilities better adapted to the requirements of legitimate business than those we have at present is of greater importance to farming communities generally and to the south and west in particular than to any other interests or sections. There is no more reason why, under a proper financial system, the farmers should be forced to sell their products at an unprofitably low figure or to pay exorbitant rates of interest for holding them than should those of any other industry. When cotton growers are forced to pay three-quarters of a cent a pound in interest, storage, insurance and other charges for holding their product this amounts on a 12,000,000 bale crop to $45,000,000 and involves a heavy sacrifice to the owners, who in this case are the farmers. Similar conditions apply to our other great agricultural crops. A revision of our banking system that will equalize the rates and terms offered to all banks in all sections is what the farmers need and in so far as the National Reserve association plan provides for this it is a beneficial one to our farming interests.

"As I understand it this plan seeks to bring about a mobilization of credit that will provide needed facilities for holding and moving crops on reasonable terms, and that in my opinion is one of its most valuable features. Under our present system, whenever money will bring a higher price in New York with stocks and bonds as collateral than it will in smaller communities on agricultural products, it may be depended upon that the money will go east and the farmers of the south and west will be practically forced to sell their crops at any price at which the market will take them. "Another important feature of the revised plan under discussion is the liberalizing of the banking law to provide for savings departments in national banks and for the loaning of a portion of these savings funds on real estate. So far as this applies to agricultural lands, it is safeguarded against speculation it will be of great benefit by providing cheaper money to develop our agricultural resources.

"In addition to aiding the farmers by providing a better credit system they should be assisted through the establishment of a bureau for marketing and distribution, which would aid them in getting better prices. With this, and with the adoption of a sound and equitable financial system the country will have advanced far in the right direction."

AN ALARM AT NIGHT

That strikes terror to the entire household is the loud, hoarse and metallic cough of croup. No mistaking it, and fortunate then the lucky parents who keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound on hand. H. W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y., says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." Elvey and Hulet.

THINGS LOOK BAD.

Salvation Army Man Says They're Worse Than for Years.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 9.—Commissioner Thomas Estill of the Salvation Army, who is directing the work of organizing the army west of Chicago, stated today that labor conditions are worse than for many years. He declares conditions are especially bad in Colorado mining camps and that there is nearer approach to actual suffering among workmen than for many years.

LO, THE POOR JACKS. ROSE, Idaho, Dec. 9.—The farmers of Jerome, Idaho, are now coming money out of their worst pests. When informed that eastern commission men were ready to pay 6 cents each for jack-rabbits, the news was received with some incredulity. A small shipment was made as a test, and when the remittance came, the whole population turned out with every known style of firearm after the jacks. Today 5,000 were sent to Pittsburg.
